Appoint Kufalk to replace Carey

by GLORIA DAVIS

At the regular meeting of the Antioch Township Board, on Thursday, July 8, Richard Kufalk, 40, was appointed to the trustee seat left vacant by the death of Irv Carey.

Kufalk, a native of the area, resides in the township with his wife Joyce. The Kufalks have two children, Heather, 18 and Heidi, 15. A graduate of Antioch Grade School and Antioch High School, he is employed by Eagle Foods, Lindenhurst.

A member of the Antioch Rescue Squad, the Antioch Lions Club and the Antioch Republican Club, Kufalk said, "I like to be involved with government, that's why I wanted to be on the township board."

In other business Supervisor Jim Fields said, "We expected some squabbling but the subdivisions came to an easy agreement," in reference to a meeting held on June 21 with representatives of 23 of the 29 Antioch Township subdivisions.

The subdivision representatives had met to decide how to spend the revenue sharing funds they had received from the township.

According to Fields, because of the variety of the needs of each subdivision, the $5,000 in revenue sharing funds was divided equally among the subdivisions, each area to use the money as it saw fit.

Some needed the money for mosquito control, some for street lights, some for road maintenance etc.

Each subdivision received $217.39. The $2,000 left in a contingency fund at the time of the revenue sharing allocation was left there to be used for emergencies such as storms etc.

Pamphlet passing by CCC successful

Some 1,500 pamphlets voicing opposition to Antioch's proposed garbage dump expansion were distributed at the Antioch Fourth of July parade by the Coalition of Concerned

Chicago man drowns

A 19-year-old Chicago man, Carl McClelland, who reportedly couldn't swim and was not wearing a life jacket, drowned when the sail boat he was in capsized in Loon Lake, at noon, on Saturday, July 10.

According to Antioch Fire Chief Charles Maplethorpe, 10 underwater rescue teams, made up of 45 divers plus many other people, searched the lake until they recovered his body at 5:30 p.m., that evening.

A friend who was with McClelland in the sailboat said that he tried to rescue him several times but the victim kept pulling him under. He finally broke away and went for help.

The life jackets that neither man were wearing were found in the boat.

This was the fifth drowning in Lake County in the last two weeks.

18-year-old dies in crash

Alan Wisniewski, 18, Antioch, died after being decapitated in a one car accident that occurred at 8:20 p.m., on Saturday, July 10, on Polliwog Rd., near 122nd St. in Salem.

A 21-year-old passenger, William Lamusga, who was visiting Wisniewski from Chicago, suffered minor lacerations to the arms and legs and received emergency treatment at Westosha Emergency Center, Silver Lake.

According to the Kenosha County Sheriff's Dept., it is estimated that Wisniewski's vehicle was traveling too fast for conditions when it flipped over and hit a utility pole during the heavy downpour that occurred early that evening.

Wisniewski was driving his parents' car, having left home in it just an hour before the accident.

His death was Kenosha County's 15th traffic fatality of 1982, five behind the total traffic related deaths recorded at this time in 1981.

He was born January 14, 1964, in Berwyn and had lived in Antioch for the past 10 years.

He had graduated from Antioch Community High School in June and was employed at Intermatic Inc., Spring Grove.

Survivors include his parents Richard and Anita Wisniewski, Antioch; one sister, Marianne (Donald) Burdelik, Spring Grove; his maternal grandparents, Marianne and Arthur Lietz Sr. and his paternal grandparents, Florence and Edmond Wisniewski.

Antioch Day

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry will be sponsoring an Antioch Day at King Richard's Faire in Bristol, on Saturday, July 17.

Members of the Chamber are offering free coupons that will enable the bearer to get into the fair on that day for $1 off of the regular admission price. Coupons are available at retail stores in the area.

Those who register at any of these stores will be eligible for the grand prize of an original lithograph series of King Richard's Faire scenes by award winning artist Brad Bennett, a $250 value.

Second prize is 46 tickets (two to a winner) for free admission to the fair on that day.

Word is that many Antioch dignitaries are expected to be present to help celebrate the village's special day.

The drawing will be held at the Chamber office, at 3 p.m., on Wednesday, July 15.

Landfill question

Look for the landfill question to be brought to a head by local opponents on the days of the county hearing concerning it, July 20, 21.

FISHING PLANS 'SWALLOWED' — John Vespa, Channel Lake, tries to figure out how to get his fishing boat out of his boathouse without disturbing swallows nest above door. Antioch to host Swim For Heart

Chicago and suburban swimmers are urged to help in the fight against heart disease and stroke by registering for the seventh annual Swim For Heart event targeted for July 17-18.

To date, more than 122 Chicagoland pools and recreational facilities will be hosting this summer event.

The event is sponsored by the Suburban Park and Recreation Assn., the Special Recreation Assn. of Northern Illinois and the Chicago Park District.

Contributions raised from the swim will benefit the Chicago Heart Assn. and its division serving Cook, DuPage and Lake counties.

Those persons interested in registering for the Swim For Heart should call the local park district or pool.

"This cooperative event between the Chicago Heart Assn. and recreational agencies emphasizes the importance of cardiovascular fitness," said Ralph Baker, chairman of the swim and athletic supervisor at the Northbrook Park District. "The event also helps raise much needed funds in the fight against heart disease and stroke."

New prizes this year in the swim include BMX bicycles, 10-speed racer bicycles, Rhapsody AM-FM multiplex radio/stereo cassette players, windbreaker jackets, visors, t-shirts and buttons.

Also, exercycles will be awarded to the top park district, special recreation association and private pool which raises the most money for CHA.

Open to all ages, the participants in the swim secure pledges for each 75-foot lap that they swim within one hour. They may rest when necessary, but rest time is included in the hour.

For further information call the local pool or park district listed below:

pansion. It requested that ALL area residents attend the July 20 Lake County Board hearings at the Antioch High School to voice their opinions against the dump.

Fred Johnson, a CCC spokesman, declared that the July 4 campaign was highly successful. "We were able to inform residents about the potential dump hazards and about the importance of the county board hearings without disrupting the parade or the following festivities," said Johnson.

The next phase of CCC activity will take place in shopping centers in surrounding communities. "Our goal is to let as many of the county residents as possible know that waste disposal is a problem that virtually every community will face in the near future unless the Lake County Board adopts a long term program to safely dispose of the millions of tons of common and hazardous wastes that are currently being dumped into holes in the ground and covered with dirt," stated Johnson.

"If Lake County citizens let huge corporations like Waste Management and Browning and Ferris get their way with one dump site after another, we could soon find ourselves so deep in garbage, hazardous wastes, leaking dump sites, water and air contamination that it might take the better part of the next century to correct those problems created by today's lack of proper planning," he added.

Salute deceased 'Ma' Weidners abilities, courage

Mrs. Elaine Weidner died on the morning of the Fourth of July. It was perhaps appropriate that she lingered until the date that is honored in America as a remembrance of our forefathers courage and determination.

She died of cancer. She knew last November that she would die within six months to a year. She was 51 years old.

Weidner was a physical education teacher and gymnastics and tennis coach at Antioch Community High School. She has been employed at Antioch for 19 years. Part of her tenure was as a dean of girls in the late 60's and early 70's for a total of seven years.

Many people, on learning that they had a year to live, would quit their job and spend that time with their loved ones. That's really what she did, except that she did not quit her job. She spent her time with her loved ones, all day long with her students and evenings and weekends with her two children's families. Weidner had five grandchildren.

This courageous did not tell her students or her gymnastics or tennis girls about her condition. She continued teaching and coaching gymnastics. In increasing pain, she continued to come to school every day until after spring break when her legs and feet became too swollen.

Her good nature never faltered. The only thing most students and faculty noticed was that she was losing weight. She talked in the lounge about how she was looking forward to the spring and summer to play tennis and golf.

Her close friends on the faculty saw her deterioration and felt she would not last until the end of the school year. Her heart was so strong she refused to give up.

"Ma" Weidner, was a nickname given to her by her students when she was dean. It demonstrates the affection and esteem she established in a job that is essentially unpopular with students.

Her enthusiasm and dedication to her job in such a time of personal stress demonstrates her courage.

When she finally decided there was no hope, she told her daughter that she didn't want all kinds of flowers at her funeral. Instead she wanted to establish a memorial fund at the high school for new tennis courts "for her girls".

This was a typical action on her part. "Her girls" will miss her, but many other girls coming to Antioch High School will miss her more for never having known her. Everyone will miss her.

Feltner faces charges July 29

Larry Feltner, 30, Waukegan, who had a pre-trial hearing on June 23, will go to trial on Thursday, July 29, in Lake County Court, on charges filed by the Antioch Police Dept. of disobeying four traffic signs, going 60 miles per hour in a 30 mile speed zone, reckless driving, improper lane usage, driving on a suspended license and fleeing and eluding the police.

Feltner was involved in a high speed chase through the village of Antioch early in the morning of May 18, which ended when his vehicle struck several obstacles, rolled and burst into flame.

On April 10, 1849, Walter Hunt of New York City received a patent for his invention of the safety pin.

Seventh Dist. Court Upholds decision on paraphanelia ban

by GLORIA DAVIS

A two-year litigation against the village board of Antioch, concerning its passage of an ordinance against the retail sale of drug paraphanelia by stores in the village limits, may have been brought to an end.

On Wednesday, July 7, a panel made up of three judges sitting on the bench of the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, Chicago, handed down a decision that upheld the village ordinance.

Judge Walter Cummings, Judge Wilbur Pell and Judge William East of Oregon, seated by designation, concurred with similar decisions handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court and two district trial courts in two cases concerning the sale of paraphanelia.

One case went to the appellate court from the Eastern District of Wisconsin and the other from a Northern Illinois District Court.

In the case of Levas Bros. and Levas T-Shirt versus the village of Antioch, an effort to overturn the village ordinance against the sale of paraphanelia, the Seventh District Court's decision upheld the village ordinance.

In the Wisconsin case, Record Head Corp. versus Michael Sachen, the court's decision upheld the lower court's decision making the sale of paraphanelia illegal.

According to Atty. Andrew Lynch, who was the village of Antioch's attorney when Levas Bros. instituted suit against it in March of 1980, Levas asked for an injunction allowing the sale of paraphanelia until a court decision was handed down.

The injunction was refused on April 22, 1980, by the United States Dist. Court, Northern Illinois Dist.

At the same time, the judge on the bench, Judge George N. Leighton, handed down a decision upholding the ordinance.

Lynch said that the decision of the appellate court was delayed pending the resolution of some U. S. Supreme Court cases on the same matter.

In one of these cases, the Hoffman Estates case, the Supreme Court's decision established an age requirement for the purchase of paraphanelia and made such purchases tantamount to that of a prescription purchase.

One of the complaints of Levas Bros. was that the village board was aware of their intention to sell the paraphanelia when they were permitted to open and passed the ordinance immediately afterwards, aiming it directly at their establishment.

Levas' attorney, Michael Pritzker, said that a decision as to whether or not Levas will appeal the latest decision will be made within a week.

HILMA LIGHTSEY

Lightsey retires after 43 years in banking

by GLORIA DAVIS

A retirement party was given for Hilma Lightsey, by the officers and the staff of the First National Bank of Antioch, on Tuesday, June 27, at Andres Restaurant, Richmond.

Lightsey, who retired from the banking business after spending 43 years in the First National's employ, said that she is looking forward to doing as lot of traveling and would certainly put the luggage given her by her co-workers to good use.

Lightsey, who is 72 years old, was born in Round Lake and moved to Antioch when she was six years old. She went to work for the bank during her senior year at Antioch High School, attending school in the morning to get the final two credits needed for graduation, and working at the bank in the afternoons.

"There were only three of us at the bank in 1926, me, another girl and the cashier," she said.

She started out by posting new accounts and serving as a teller at times until she reached the position of assistant cashier at the time of her retirement.

"I probably did most of the jobs at the bank at one time or other as the bank grew larger," she said, "everything from customer relations to working in the loan department."

Her husband died a few years ago and she intends spending a lot of her time visiting her two daughters and her five grandchildren.

EXAMINING TISSUES

Q: My dentist said he wants to take a scraping of my cheek. Why?

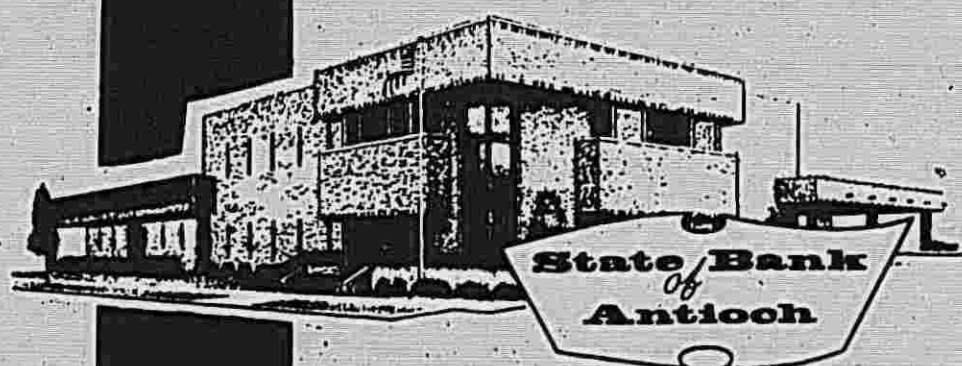

A: There are a large number of conditions which can affect the soft tissues of the mouth. Most of them aren't serious. However, cancer can occur in the mouth. These cancers and pre-cancerous conditions may look suspicious, but sometimes appear harmless even to a trained eye.

The only way to tell for sure if a condition is cancerous is to remove tissue surgically and examine microscopically (biopsy). It isn't practical to perform surgery on any abnormal gum condition, but it is possible to get some information by simply scraping the surface of the mucous membrane and examining the scraped surface cells microscopically. The practice of examining these cells is called exfoliative cytology.

While not 100 per cent effective, exfoliative cytology is useful as a screening tool. It enables dentists to examine tissue without surgery. If this test raises further suspicions, a surgical biopsy specimen can then be taken.

Set killer drivers free to crash again

by GLORIA DAVIS

Even though there are new stricter drunken driving laws in both Illinois and Wisconsin, are they being enforced by the states' law enforcement agencies and by both states' judicial systems?

In several recent traffic fatalities in both Kenosha and Lake Counties, the victims lie dead while those that caused their deaths either receive light sentences or are not prosecuted at all.

There's the case of Rodney Lackie, 19, a sailor stationed at Great Lakes, who unconditionally pled guilty to two charges of reckless homicide while under the influence of drugs and alcohol in connection with a double fatality at the intersection of Rtes. 83 and 173, Antioch.

In tearfully pleading guilty on July 8 to causing the deaths of Ann Brierly, Glencoe, and Lilach Shazar, Wilmette, by running the stop light at the intersection at high speeds, Lackie inclusively admitted to the charges of ingesting alcohol and drugs before the accident.

According to Asst. Lake County States Atty. Michael Duffy, Judge William Bloch granted the continuance that Lackie's attorney, Steven Lunardi, Waukegan, asked for at the sentencing hearing on Thursday, July 8.

The attorney asked for the continuance to allow him to bring a psychologist into the courtroom.

The minimum sentence the sailor can receive on Thursday, July 17, is probation. The maximum, is one to three years imprisonment.

William Gross, 20, Waukegan, was found guilty by a Kenosha County jury of one count of reckless homicide and one count of causing serious injury with the reckless use of a vehicle, in connection with the death of Norman Jamin, 19, Gurnee.

Judge William Zievers sentenced him to serve two terms consecutively in the Dodge Correctional Institution, Waupun.

One term was for two and one-half years for the homicide and the other was for one year in connection with the serious injury.

Gross was charged with drunken driving at the scene of the accident on Sept. 19, occurring on Rte. 83 in Salem.

A Salem policemen reportedly clocked Gross at speeds in excess of 90 miles per hour minutes before he crashed into Jamin's car.

Even though Gross had been tested just previous to sentencing and the tests showed that he had been drinking and smoking marijuana between the time when he was found guilty and the date of the sentencing on June 29, the judge continued a $4,000 cash bond he had posted, releasing him while his sentence is being appealed.

According to Lynn Copen, director of Kenosha County Victim and Witness Services, Gross will be free while the appeal could take several months.

On Dec. 16, Christopher Reardon, 18, Fox Lake, was killed when van in which he was a passenger became airborne because of alleged high speeds, ran a stop sign, and crashed through the roof of an Antioch Township subdivision garage.

Thomas Sbertole, 20, Round Lake, was the driver of the vehicle and to date no charges whatsoever have been brought against him.

Although there has been no mention of drugs or alcohol on this one, witnesses at the scene stated that Jerry Olesky, 36, Antioch, ran a stop sign at the intersection of Rte. 173 and Delaney Rd., at a high rate of speed, crashing into a car driven by Gerald Swaggert, 20, Great Lakes. The accident caused the death of William Duncan III, 20, Pa., a passenger in the Swaggert car, who was stationed at Great Lakes Naval Base.

Swaggert was seriously injured in the accident. Olesky was also injured.

The accident happened on June 12, but presently the computers at the Lake County Sheriff's office show no charges filed against Olesky, not even for a traffic violation. The Lake County States Attorney's office has had no charged filed on this case to date.

A member of a local law enforcement agency said that the reason for the failure of follow through litigation often happens when a law enforcement agency does not do a thorough investigating job.

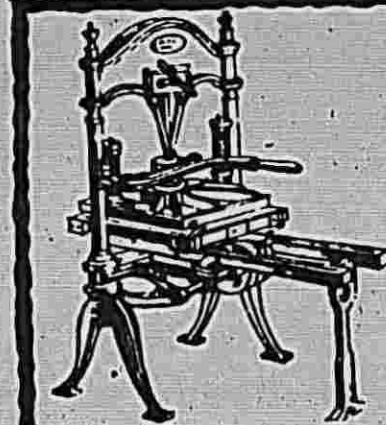

Consequently, the district attorney's office, being a political one that does not like to handle cases it feels it cannot win, does not prosecute.

Judicial leniency is a cry often heard from both the prosecuting attorneys and the policemen who blame our "soft" judges for much of the murder on our highways.

Will it stop unless all the agencies involved put forth a maximum effort to see that the punishment fits the crime?

One group striving to see that this happens is "Hands Across the Border," a group made up of parents, friends and relatives of some of the local victims of this highway mayhem plus citizens just interested in abolishing it.

A meeting of the group is planned for July 28. More information can be gotten by contacting Lynn Copen, (414) 656-6480.

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: July 14, 1932

Lloyd Murrie pitched an outstanding game when the Loyal Order of the Moose of the Northern District, played Woodridge Camping Grounds, Lake Geneva, in Antioch. The Illinois team took the Wisconsin boys, 14 to 4.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hennings celebrated their sixth year of successful newspaper selling in Antioch.

My how times have changed! The News ran an article about a governmental agency returning funds to the taxpayers. Antioch property owners received $5,123.16 that represented installment payments on Special Assessment 7 upon which bonds were issued and sold in 1922 for the paving of Main St.

The News ran a furniture ad for the Antioch Boat Building Co., advertising various styles of dressers for sale for $3.98, $4.98 and $5.98.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: July 10, 1952

With the overcrowding and busy traffic in the Antioch area over the Fourth of July weekend, there were five fatalities in Lake County. Three people were drowned, one was killed in an automobile accident and one person died under the wheels of a train.

Homer LaPlant put in the columns at the Antioch Park entrance. They were donated by the Antioch Moose Lodge.

The Antioch Methodist Church began a bus service to transport people in the outlying lake areas to Sunday services.

The help wanted ads in the News outnumbered the for sale ads.

TEN YEARS AGO: July 19, 1972

The electors of Antioch Grade School voted down the referendums to increase the educational fund tax by 35 cents per $100 of assessed evaluation in order to get monies to bail out the financially stricken school district and reinstate some of the programs that were cut last spring.

The completed church was dedicated at St. Benedict's Abbey, Benet Lake.

Stanley's Men's Fashions was getting ready to move to the area now known as Antioch Shopping Plaza.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Looks like we have another famous Antioch resident. Those of you who are following the Cubs on radio heard Harry Carey announce last week that Alice Young, former owner of the Merry-Go-Round Bakery, here in Antioch, was at the Cubs-Atlanta game in Atlanta, Ga.

In regards to the blurb on merchant dissatisfaction with not being able to sell refreshments at the Arts and Crafts Fair, the Chamber said that, although it sounded like a good idea when the first few requests came in, they were soon snowed under with applications for food vending booths from other merchants.

So, in order that the Arts and Crafts Fair would not turn into a "Taste of Antioch," it was decided that the only food booth at the fair be that sponsored by the Chamber themselves.

Hey, that "Taste of Antioch," idea sounds like a winner for a future fund raising event.

I hear that Jayne and James Siatek's daughter, Jennifer, a sophomore at Northern Illinois University, college of liberal arts, garnered a 4.0 average last semester to put her on the dean's list.

Hurry, hurry, hurry! Those of you that didn't get to buy a Fourth of July button, the Antioch Parks and Recreation still has some left and they are available for $1 at the Parks office on Main St.

Glenda and Dee, from Parks, also tell me that Tracey Witt will be teaching a second session in the program's tennis lessons, starting July 12, for Monday and Wednesday netters, and July 13 for Tuesday and Thursday racketeers.

Time for lessons is 9 a.m. for ladies' beginners; 10 a.m., for seven to 11-year olds and 11 a.m. for 12 to 15 year olds. Children can learn to be another Tracey Austin for $12, its $14 for adults.

'Candle' in closing performances

"Witchcraft Around Us" is the working title of Sidney Redlitch's proposed new book, the basic premise of which, according to Redlitch, is "Just that witchcraft around us... all around us." "You'd be surprised where they meet.

One of their main places is up in Harlem and sometimes they meet in a suite of offices on top of the Woolworth building."

Redlitch is one of the zany characters who populate John van Druten's company fantasy "Bell, Book & Candle", which is now in its third week of production in the new Country House Dinner Theater in Antioch.

The play is being presented by On Cue Productions, the company which also produced Niel Simon's "Chapter Two" in April of this year to audience and critical acclaim.

The plot of the play revolves around Gillian Holroyd, a modern young witch who casts a love spell over book publisher Shepherd Henderson to spite an old enemy.

She then discovers that she may be falling under an enchantment of another sort herself. In its original New York run, this comedy-fantasy-romance starred Rex Harrison and his then wife Lili Palmer. It enjoyed enough success to be made into a motion picture.

The On Cue Productions cast at The Country House Dinner Theater includes: Lyn Kessie of Richmond as Gillian Holroyd, the young witch; Tim Holt of Wildwood as Shepherd Henderson, the object and subject of her enchantment; Anne Marie Cina of McHenry as Gillian's "peculiar" Aunt Queeny; Bruce Stamm of Antioch plays Nicky Holroyd, the warlock brother who delights in his magical gifts; and Don Crop of Mundelein is Sidney Redlitch, the tipsy author of books on witchcraft, who may have more reason than most writers to imbibe liberally.

Final performances of "Bell, Book & Candle" will play through this weekend ending July 18, with a Friday and Saturday evening performance and a Sunday matinee. For dinner reservations call (312) 395-4211.

Gaslighters' next 'Oliver'

Driving by Lakewood School in Twin Lakes, may result in hearing the cast of Fagin's gang rollicking to the tunes of "You've Got to Pick a Pocket or Two" and "Be Back Soon," as they learn how to survive on the streets of London.

Fagin, Mark Welch, is assisted by gang members Amy Anderson, Nicki French, Alana Larsen, Nicole Larsen, Yvette Livingston, Chris Novak, Kari Sullivan, Jonathan Yeh, and Michelle Wood.

Under the able direction of Jim Hesselmann and Jackie Heckel, the rehearsals give promise of forthcoming entertaining evenings.

The musical "Oliver", by Lionel Bart, will be presented Friday, July 16, Saturday, July 17, and the following weekend of Friday, July 23 and Saturday, July 24.

Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for senior citizens and $1.50 for students.

The musical opens with the orphans in the workhouse singing "Food Glorious Food", as they are fed a thin gruel served by Widow Corney, played by Mary Novak.

Oliver, played by Bill Fischer, approaches Mr. Bumble. (Tom Welch), requesting a second serving of the porridge.

Instantly subdued Bumble takes him out to the streets singing the haunting "Boy for Sale."

Mrs. Sowerberry (Michelle Ploskonka), decides to buy Oliver for her undertaking business. Oliver wonders "Where Is Love?" as he experiences the hostility of Mrs. Sowerberry's daughter Charlotte (Melana Matthews) and Noah Claypole (Dan Yeh).

Successfully escaping from the funeral parlor existence, Oliver meets up with Dodger (Pam Miller), who helps introduce Oliver to Fagin. Soon Bet (Maribeth Ghislain) and Nancy (Paula Larson), music major from Carthage College and a contestant in the Alice in Dairyland festivities, appear and celebrate "It's a Fine Life."

The second half of the play opens with Nancy being encouraged to sing a music hall number, "Oom-pah-pah" and thereby entertain the tavern trade.

Suddenly Fagin's boys pour into the tavern telling of Oliver's apprehension by the police and his current benefactor, wealthy Mrs. Brownlow (Maryanna Wallin), with her housekeeper, Mrs. Bedwin (Laura Lantvit).

Fearful that Oliver will tell about the life of crime, Fagin and Bill Sikes played by Randall Dreher, dispatch Nancy to get Oliver back.

Also appearing in the cast are Joanne Nowak as Old Sally and Jimmy Davison, both of Twin Lakes.

Assisting behind the scenes are Kathy Keegan, Sherry St. Pierre, Debbie Gorka, Naomi Livingston, Angene Rohm, Gladys Voltz, Glen Carnahan, and Honorine Elverman.

One tablespoon is equal to 3 teaspoons.

Stage review

'HMS Pinafore' sails plays to new heights

by LINDA ADAMS

Although perhaps the best known and best loved work by Gilbert and Sullivan having been presented by some of the best acting talents in the world, The Fool's Players' production of "HMS Pinafore" leaves nothing out in its version of the famous operetta.

Their rendition of the popular play earns them the title of professional amateurs—costumes, choreography, sets and music all came together superbly, resulting in a brilliant performance by the Antioch troupe.

Over 50 Lake County residents combined their efforts to present a truly entertaining and spell-binding formula for the play.

Many of the more notable actors from the area were on hand to fill the acting bill.

Director Ken Smouse is a stage veteran from way back, which is not hard to tell by the well-rehearsed and confident performances given by all members of the cast, despite the assumed ever-present opening night jitters.

In addition to directing, Smouse did a wonderful portrayal of Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, ruler of the English Navy—or better known in the song—ruler of the Queen's navy.

Not only does his appearance lend itself well to a "captainish" type of character with his white hair, white-streaked gray beard and mustache and white, starched uniform complete with gold braids and epaulets, Smouse's very personality—that cocky strut, rumbly, low voice and fierce eyes—would make even the most doubting Thomas swear that he could force a body to walk the plank if he desired.

One of the younger members of the cast, but shining perhaps brighter than all other players in "HMS Pinafore," is Lori Jo Rush who plays Josephine, the Pinafore captain's daughter who is fights disgracing her father and social rank despite falling in love with a common "tar" or sailor.

Rush's musical performance is something that must be heard to appreciate, but her haunting rendition of "Sorry Her Lot Who Loves Too Well" must have given most of the audience goose-bumps.

Keith Boehm played the handsome, but lowly sailor, Ralph Rackstraw, who Josephine is in love with. Also leaning heavily on his singing talents, Boehm gave a very likeable and professional performance.

Other actors earning more than honorable mentions are Larry Bullman as Captain Corcoran, Henry Alexander Apostol II as Dick Deadeye and Joan Kusher as Little But-tercup.

The remainder of the cast provided exceptional musical and dancing backup—Porter's traveling court of aunts, sisters and cousins and the crew of the HMS Pinafore, complete with cabin-boy Phillip Fabry.

No proper review could be written without expounding on the orchestra and costumes.

Although it looked as though the costumes were rented from a professional company, from the British naval uniforms to the ornate gown bedecked with a myriad of ribbons, laces, satins and scarfs, costumer Mary Faulkner-Jones along with wives and mothers of the cast was the originators of these beautiful pieces. It is really quite unbelievable that costumes made by unprofessionals can be so beautiful and intricate.

Fifteen musicians provided the background music for the 25 songs in the production. Conductor Lynn Schornick and the musicians are to be commended for fine performances all, without which the operetta would not have had its own unique magic or the power to enchant the audience in the manner it did.

Choreographer Ellie Piacenza carried off her task well, working around the uneven dancing talents of the players, to provide a very even result.

All in all, the Fool's Players production of "HMS Pinafore" shows that there were no fools putting on this production.

The Fool's Players final productions of the play will be at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, July 16 and 17, at the Antioch Community High School. Tickets are available at the door.

STAR IN 'PINAFORE' — Joan Kusher, left, and Ken Smouse are two of stars appearing at Antioch High School in 'HMS Pinafore.' Smouse also is director of Fools Player production.

On Cue does new show

On Cue Production's up and coming dinner theater show has been cast and dates are set. "Under Papa's Picture", an uproariously funny comedy that will tickle the funny bone all evening, will be performed at The Country House Dinner Theater in Antioch.

The fun filled show will be performed on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons, beginning Friday evening July 30 and running five consecutive weekends.

The play will be directed by Lyn Kessie of Richmond. Lyn feels that the actors she has chosen will entertain you with outstanding performances for a truly enjoyable evening.

Enlists

Anthony L. Warnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lance Warnke of Antioch, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program recently, according to Technical Sergeant Ron Nixon, Air Force recruiter, 2416 W. Washington St., Waukegan. Upon successfully completing the Air Force's six weeks basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tx., he will receive training in the electronics aptitude area. He will be a 1982 graduate of Antioch High School. He will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Behind scenes crews work on 'Wilderness'

Behind the scenes of PM&L's production of "Ah, Wilderness!" the audience will discover a talented and hard working crew. Managing the stage is Elmarie Beno and her crew: Dick Dyer, Leslie Taylor, Jane Hausman, and Jim Borsch.

Building and decorating the four-scene set, designed by Tom Hausman, are Dave Carlson, who also plays the bartender, Elmarie Beno, Leslie Taylor, Jan and Amy Hausman, Hank Apostol, and Steve Beno.

The lighting will be handled by Scott Kiederlen. On Sound are Bruce Stamm and Tracy Kiederlen. Publicity has been handled by Betty Smouse, and her husband Ken, will act as consultant director for the show's regular director, Tom Hausman, when he is performing in the show.

Gloria Stewart designed the posters for the Antioch Theatre Festival. The turn of the century costumes and the show's photography have been handled by the show's director.

Play dates are: July 23, 24, 30, 31, August 6 and 7, at 8:30 p.m., and August 1, at 2:30 p.m., with ticket prices at $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for students.

A special season pass to the Antioch Theatre Festival which includes the Fool's Players production of "H.M.S. Pinafore" and "Ah, Wilderness!" is available for only $5.

Sobizak joins Tiffany

Realty World-Tiffany Real Estate announced the addition of Wayne A. Sobczak to its full time sales staff.

Sobczak, a resident of Antioch for the past 26 years, lives there with his wife and two children.

He is an officer of the Antioch Rescue Squad and has been a member of that association since 1973.

He also sits on the Antioch Planning Commission, and is a founding member of the National Emergency Medical Technician Assn.

Fred Johnson, Realty World-Tiffany manager, stated "Wayne is a welcome addition to our growing staff. We're looking forward to helping him serve the real estate needs of the community with the same enthusiasm he is serving our community health and safety needs."

TODAY THIS HOUSE IS JUST SMART. TOMORROW IT'LL BE BRILLIANT.

Nobody has to tell you what's happening to the cost of energy today. It's all up, up, up.

So if you're looking for a new house, it makes a whole lot of sense to look for one with an Energy Smart sign out front. One that uses energy like a miser. That keeps the cost down, down, down.

That means a house with double-glazed windows.

With ceilings insulated to a minimum rating of R-19.

With walls insulated to at least R-11.

With exterior openings carefully weather-stripped and caulked.

And with an Electric Heat Pump instead of a central air conditioner and furnace.

That's the key. The Heat Pump.

All summer long it works just like central air conditioning. But in the winter it reverses itself. It takes heat from the air outside and pumps it inside to keep you warm.

What's more, the Heat Pump does that so efficiently it provides at least 50 percent more energy (heat) than the energy (electricity) it uses.

And that's very, very smart when you consider that the cost of natural gas has gone up 52 percent faster than electricity since 1967, and oil has gone up 113 percent faster.

Better yet, it'll be downright brilliant when natural gas gets deregulated or OPEC bumps up the price of oil a few more times.

The Energy Smart house. It can make tomorrow a lot easier to live with.

In addition to directing, Smouse did a wonderful portrayal of Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, ruler of the English Navy—or better known in the song—ruler of the Queen's navy.

Not only does his appearance lend itself well to a "captainish" type of character with his white hair, white-streaked gray beard and mustache and white, starched uniform complete with gold braids and epaulets, Smouse's very personality—that cocky strut, rumbly, low voice and fierce eyes—would make even the most doubting Thomas swear that he could force a body to walk the plank if he desired.

One of the younger members of the cast, but shining perhaps brighter than all other players in "HMS Pinafore," is Lori Jo Rush who plays Josephine, the Pinafore captain's daughter who is fights disgracing her father and social rank despite falling in love with a common "tar" or sailor.

Rush's musical performance is something that must be heard to appreciate, but her haunting rendition of "Sorry Her Lot Who Loves Too Well" must have given most of the audience goose-bumps.

Keith Boehm played the handsome, but lowly sailor, Ralph Rackstraw, who Josephine is in love with. Also leaning heavily on his singing talents, Boehm gave a very likeable and professional performance.

Other actors earning more than honorable mentions are Larry Bullman as Captain Corcoran, Henry Alexander Apostol II as Dick Deadeye and Joan Kusher as Little But-tercup.

The remainder of the cast provided exceptional musical and dancing backup—Porter's traveling court of aunts, sisters and cousins and the crew of the HMS Pinafore, complete with cabin boy Phillip Fabry.

No proper review could be written without expounding on the orchestra and costumes.

Although it looked as though the costumes were rented from a professional company, from the British naval uniforms to the ornate gown bedecked with a myriad of ribbons, laces, satins and scarfs, costumer Mary Faulkner-Jones along with wives and mothers of the cast was the originators of these beautiful pieces. It is really quite unbelievable that costumes made by un-professionals can be so beautiful and intricate.

Fifteen musicians provided the background music for the 25 songs in the production. Conductor Lynn Schornick and the musicians are to be commended for fine performances all, without which the operetta would not have had its own unique magic or the power to enchant the audience in the manner it did.

Choreographer Ellie Piacenza carried off her task well, working around the uneven dancing talents of the players, to provide a very even result.

All in all, the Fool's Players production of "HMS Pinafore" shows that there were no fools putting on this production.

The Fool's Players final productions of the play will be at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, July 16 and 17, at the Antioch Community High School. Tickets are available at the door.

STAR IN 'PINAFORE' — Joan Kusher, left, and Ken Smouse are two of stars appearing at Antioch High School in 'HMS Pinafore.' Smouse also is director of Fools Player production.

On Cue does new show

On Cue Production's up and coming dinner theater show has been cast and dates are set. "Under Papa's Picture", an uproariously funny comedy that will tickle the funny bone all evening, will be performed at The Country House Dinner Theater in Antioch.

The fun filled show will be performed on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons, beginning Friday evening July 30 and running five consecutive weekends.

The play will be directed by Lyn Kessie of Richmond. Lyn feels that the actors she has chosen will entertain you with outstanding performances for a truly enjoyable evening.

Enlists

Anthony L. Warnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lance Warnke of Antioch, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program recently, according to Technical Sergeant Ron Nixon, Air Force recruiters, 2416 W. Washington St., Waukegan. Upon successfully completing the Air Force's six weeks basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tx., he will receive training in the electronics aptitude area. He will be a 1982 graduate of Antioch High School. He will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Behind scenes crews work on 'Wilderness'

Behind the scenes of PM&L's production of "Ah, Wilderness!" the audience will discover a talented and hard working crew. Managing the stage is Elmarie Beno and her crew: Dick Dyer, Leslie Taylor, Jane Hausman, and Jim Borsch.

Building and decorating the four-scene set, designed by Tom Hausman, are Dave Carlson, who also plays the bartender, Elmarie Beno, Leslie Taylor, Jan and Amy Hausman, Hank Apostol, and Steve Beno.

The lighting will be handled by Scott Kiederlen. On Sound are Bruce Stamm and Tracy Kiederlen. Publicity has been handled by Betty Smouse, and her husband Ken, will act as consultant director for the show's regular director, Tom Hausman, when he is performing in the show.

Gloria Stewart designed the posters for the Antioch Theatre Festival. The turn of the century costumes and the show's photography have been handled by the show's director.

Play dates are: July 23, 24, 30, 31, August 6 and 7, at 8:30 p.m., and August 1, at 2:30 p.m., with ticket prices at $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for students.

A special season pass to the Antioch Theatre Festival which includes the Fool's Players production of "H.M.S. Pinafore" and "Ah, Wilderness!" is available for only $5.

Sobizak joins Tiffany

Realty World-Tiffany Real Estate announced the addition of Wayne A. Sobczak to its full time sales staff.

Sobczak, a resident of Antioch for the past 26 years, lives there with his wife and two children.

He is an officer of the Antioch Rescue Squad and has been a member of that association since 1973.

He also sits on the Antioch Planning Commission, and is a founding member of the National Emergency Medical Technician Assn.

Fred Johnson, Realty World-Tiffany manager, stated "Wayne is a welcome addition to our growing staff."

"We're looking forward to helping him serve the real estate needs of the community with the same enthusiasm he is serving our community health and safety needs."

Behlings recognized at Optifair Midwest

Donald and Janet Behling have been awarded a certificate of achievement at OptiFair Midwest '82, the largest midwestern exposition and conference for members of the ophthalmic profession in the United States. It was held in Chicago, June 4-6. The certificate of achievement is given in recognition of eyecare professionals who are committed to meeting the daily needs of the American public by completing the required continuing education program and keeping up-to-date with the latest clinical information and technical changes in their chosen fields.

The average American drinks about 560 cups of coffee a year.

In 100 Club

One hundred University of Illinois seniors have been recognized for their contributions to campus organizations. They were named members of the 100 Club, an activity honor society at Illinois sponsored by the Student Alumni Assn. and the University of Illinois Alumni Assn. Among the students honored was Margaret Bessette, 983 Main St., Antioch. Each 100 Club member was chosen from students nominated by faculty advisors of student organizations such as housing units and publications, theater and music groups.

HIGH PRICES

Ten consecutive weeks of price increases totaling about 13 cents a gallon have erased the lower gasoline prices enjoyed by motorists during the spring, the AAA-Chicago Motor Club's latest Fuel Gauge survey showed.

Obituaries

TODAY THIS HOUSE IS JUST SMART. TOMORROW IT'LL BE BRILLIANT.

Nobody has to tell you what's happening to the cost of energy today. It's all up, up, up.

So if you're looking for a new house, it makes a whole lot of sense to look for one with an Energy Smart sign out front. One that uses energy like a miser. That keeps the cost down, down, down.

That means a house with double-glazed windows.

With ceilings insulated to a minimum rating of R-19.

With walls insulated to at least R-11.

With exterior openings carefully weather-stripped and caulked.

And with an Electric Heat Pump instead of a central air conditioner and furnace.

That's the key. The Heat Pump.

All summer long it works just like central air conditioning. But in the winter it reverses itself. It takes heat from the air outside and pumps it inside to keep you warm.

What's more, the Heat Pump does that so efficiently it provides at least 50 percent more energy (heat) than the energy (electricity) it uses.

And that's very, very smart when you consider that the cost of natural gas has gone up 52 percent faster than electricity since 1967, and oil has gone up 113 percent faster.

Better yet, it'll be downright brilliant when natural gas gets deregulated or OPEC bumps up the price of oil a few more times.

The Energy Smart house. It can make tomorrow a lot easier to live with.
